The Truth About Impression Materials

All impression materials in the US market are manufactured by a small handful of silicone manufacturers in various parts of the world. These products are then purchased and packaged by a wide variety of companies and labeled under a variety of "brand names". The product is then distributed to your dental office by supply companies. Three separate companies profit before the product ever reaches your office: the Silicone Manufacturing Company, the Company that Brands the Product and the Supply Company that Distributes it.

We just knocked out two middle men. . . now that's a "creative solution"!
